Allele, A Different Someone

Lashes out again Silently I can't keep from caving in The truth is I always wanted to be the one That you could confide in As I hear the sound, of a voice Telling me not so loud As I hear the sound Suddenly I'm so different I'm so different from you [x2] I dream for hours on end About a life I could never believe in Betrayed by what you would say It comes around again I pay no mind for something I just cannot hide As I hear that sound, as I hear that sound Telling me Suddenly I'm so different I'm so different from you [x2] Devils be the ones Tells me I've nothing to loose if I'm falling Before I cave I want you to know You did this to me Suddenly I'm so different I'm so different from you [x2] But I realize the difference is you [x2]