

Allie Moss, Something To Hold On To

you give me something to hold on to i hear your voice and it quiets my mind every beautiful melody every perfect piercing line
you are a vessel of light
to me tonight
and while i wrestle with demons and appetites
i cling to you
you tell the stories I need you to tell something in the way you sing pulls me out of my lonely hell
you give me something to hold on to sing to me...
sing to me, sing to me
your meloncholy song
and i will hold on
and while i wrestle with demons (angels and appetites
i cling to you tonight
