

Allister, The One That Got Away

you left a guy who told you where to be and when i was with a girl who tried to sleep with my best friend we both took comfort in each other's messy lives finding warmth on that cold november night we swore it'd be years before we brought that on again days later you said that we should be more than just friends i let my guard down cuz the feelings were so strong but acted stupid and thats when he came along

CHORUS:

its been so long, i should just move on there's other fish in the sea but i keep hoping you'll swim back home to me we'd sneak out and go swimming late at night you're one of few who can say they've seen me cry you've got my quirkiness and awkward sense of humor we shared simpson quotes and started made up rumors if night turned into day you'd hide me from your mom i could never fight with you cuz you were never wrong this time especially the blame is all on me if i'd not screwed things up i wonder where we'd be

CHORUS:

it's been so long, i should just move on
there's other fish in the sea
but i keep hoping you'll swim back home to me one day for no reason i broke our date so you made other plans that day and that's when you met him and why you're still with him today

it's been so long, i should just move on
there's other fish in the sea but i keep hoping you'll swim back home to-i'm just glad i got a chance to know you you'll forever be the one that got away