

Alok, Wherever You Go (feat. John Martin)

I remember our last summer
When your heart met mine
We were diving
To the ocean
Always side by side

I hear your world's been getting colder, colder
But through it all I'll be your shoulder, shoulder
And even though we're getting older, older
Remember what we said:

That if the world was ending
You know I'll carry you home
You home
I'll be the last man standing
To keep you safe from the storm
The storm
I'll be the light in your darkest night
Until you know it will be alright
Cause if the world was ending
You know I'll carry you home
I'd go wherever you go!

I remember our last summer
When your heart met mine
We were diving
To the ocean
Always side by side