

Alpha Blondy, New Dawn

Since you told me that you love me
I did everything you asked me
Now you're gone with the dawn
I keep on wandering, wandering, wandering all alone
I keep on struggling, struggling on my own
And I'm staring straight, staring straight
Staring to the rising sun
Yes, I'm staring straight, staring straight
Waiting for the new dawn
And I wanted you to stay
But I was too proud to say it
Now I'm waiting for the day
For you to come across my way
All these hazy days over my head
This loneliness driving me crazy
And memories of these happy days
Are feeding my disarray
And I'm staring straight, staring straight
Staring to the raising sun
Yes, I'm staring straight, staring straight
Waiting for the new dawn
And I wanted you to stay
But I was too proud to say it
Now I'm longing for the day
For you to come across my way

All them hazy days over our head
This loneliness driving me crazy
And memories of these happy days
Are feeding my disarray
Staring straight, staring straight
Staring to the rising sun
And I'm staring straight, staring straight
Waiting for the new dawn
Staring straight, staring straight
Staring to the rising sun
Yes, I'm staring straight, staring straight
Waiting for the new dawn
Staring, staring
Staring to the rising sun
Staring, staring
Waiting for the new dawn
Staring, staring
Staring to the rising sun
Staring, staring
Staring to the rising sun
Staring, staring
Staring to the rising sun
Staring, staring
Waiting for the new dawn
New dawn, new dawn