

Alphaville, Ship Of Fools

Did you know when the journey started
That we'd ever reach that point
Many years we sailed together
Now it's time to say goodbye
You don't know what I've been going through
Haven't heard that much from you
Isolation is a nice flower
Now I wonder what to do
You never know when your dreams come true
Is it good for you, is it good for you
On our ship of fools we were drifting along the shores never seen before
When you told me that you're leaving
Cause the stakes were much too high
I was wondering why you said so
Since we still got wings to fly
I will never ever give up
Just as long as I am here
Till the end I'll spread my wings
And raise my dreams against your fears
You never know when your dreams come true
Is it good for you, is it good for you
On our ship of fools we were drifting along the shores never seen before...
