

Alphaville, Those wonderful things

Some days you run, run, run you never stop and when you stop you're too tired to think about anything