

Alter Bridge, Still Remains

Cast a line when I saw that you were drowning
Still you turned your back on me
Pulled you from the fire when you were burning
Still you never could believe
So carry on
If you must go your way
Though it breaks my heart
Your free will still remains
Saved you from the fall when you were slipping
Still you broke from me to run
So how can you justify the life your living?
You must carry on
If you must go your way
Though it breaks my heart
Your free will still remains
You'll deny it all
You'll deny me once again
But I've seen it all
I know you'll come to crawl
Back to me before the end
Carry on
If you must go your way
Though it breaks my heart
Your free will still remains
So carry on
If you must go your way
Though it breaks my heart
Your free will still remains
