

Amanda Ghost, Idol

I can see it
I can feel it
Rushing in my veins
I don't like it
I don't hide it
see it in my face
but I don't want to wait for I have lost my faith

chorus:

Why can't I find myself an idol?
Somebody that I can look up to Be big enough to hold me close in their arms and never let me down And all these stupid conversations that always seem to lead to nowhere they're going round and round and round in my head and they'll be back again.
they're coming back again

it's not fair
I still care now
we're always alone.
honesty and modesty
will never find my home but I will never say when I have lost my way

repeat chorus

You take it
You take it
and throw it away
