

Ambuscade Undeclinable, Seven Years

We're looking at each other with our discontented eyes.
We're both waiting for that moment to arrive.
When things won't be so fucking boring
and we're not fighting for hours on end.
Why can't it just be like the day we first met.
Just like 7 years ago.
Those 7 years, you just don't throw, throw them away.

But if that's the only reason for our love to survive,
then maybe it's better to get on with our lives.
But you won't say it and I am too scared to even think about anything like that.
Why can't you, just hold me, so I can lay my head
on your shoulder.
Just like 7 years ago. The magic's gone.....
Then I slow, slowly close, my eyes my eyes are closed
They try to hide my tears. Ocean blue turns to grey on this heart-rending day. Words I'm about to say.
I thought that the heart was just a muscle, how can it possibly hurt this much.
I've got so many questions, so many things that we must do.
Who will love me when you're gone (2x).