Amelia Moore, vinegar

I'd like to Think it's time to Spit the soap out of my mouth And turn the pistol back around All these lies you Made me like you Take a dose without a name Hopin it'll hide your face Older now, smarter now, but it ain't copacetic Bombs that bleed inside of me No one sees my Armageddon Heavy crown, weigh me down But I can't afford a medic I've tried everything but Vinegar Pour it in my body Where it hurts Like a pity party You couldn't tell I go through hell, I go thru hell again Just to get it out I let it digest Holdin my breath I got nothing left to prove What was static now can move I can't go back And you should know that Even when you reassured I never ever felt secure Older now, smarter now, why do I still feel pathetic? Bombs that bleed inside of me No one sees my Armageddon Heavy crown, weigh me down But I can't afford a medic I've tried everything but Vinegar Pour it in my body Where it hurts Like a pity party You couldn't tell I go through hell, I go thru hell again Just to get it out Vinegar Pour it in my body Where it hurts Like a pity party You couldn't tell I go through hell, I go thru hell again Just to get it out
