

America, Paradise

Paradise
Caught between the Fire and the ice
No need to Think twice
It's where I want
To be

Like a weather vane Following the wind, the sun
and rain
The ecstasy
and pain
and all that
comes between

Cause in the morning
summer breezes
will be coming
my way
Then in the evening
unbelieving
I'll be ready to say

That I am living
here in Paradise Balancing the darkness with
the light
Silencing the fight Ahead is all I see

Like a golden chain Wrapped around the
laughter
and the pain
Silencing the blame
Let it all break free

Then in the morning
summer breezes
will be coming
my way
And in the evening
unbelieving
I'll be ready to say

That we're all
living here in Paradise

And though the sun
will fade away
they say
there's so much more to fill a day

So be a weather vane
following
the wind,

the sun,
and rain
The ecstasy
and pain
comes between

Cause in the morning
your way
Then in the evening
unbelieving
You'll be ready to say

That we're all
living here in
Paradise
in Paradise
Paradise

Living here in Paradise
Between the
fire and the ice

between the

in Paradise
In Paradise
