

American Head Charge, A Violent Reaction

lead me around nurse my broken wing with all the promises you can never honor I just dont care enough to react to vain attempts sent only to perpetuate one's selfish little world you wont see what ive become youll wait and watch and still youre only let down
a violent reaction
struggling only to keep myself alive now here I stand for nothing no one at all I lead you down begging to touch you in the cold you give me a reason I will not be the one through all the nonsense there is a constant
you wont see what ive become
youll wait and watch and still
youre only let down
cause this feeling
has dawned the face of you
a violent reaction
struggling only to keep myself alive
you wont see what ive become
cause this feeling
has dawned the face of you
a violent reaction
struggling only to keep myself alive