

American Lesion, When I Fail

One day
My life will be a chocolate shake and late night TV
But right now
I'm afraid of everything that is going down
Too many decisions
Too much responsibility
Ahh, and no one is there
To hold me when I fail
Like the deer
Who knows he won't survive the winter so he runs in fear
The drift's too deep
The browse too scarce, the able too strong to compete
And I wonder if
I was stronger when
I didn't care if no one was there
To hold me when I fail
One day
My life will be a chocolate shake and late night TV
