

American Steel, Two Crooks

you fell in love with a brash young thing an unpredictable man lately i've been working every night so i guess you say i've stayed my hand people in the street know your name they wink at me so i do the same something is not right but they imply i'll know when if i wasn't scared by now i won't be then never seen someone so deserving of the benefit of the doubt believe me you're got some rumors baby whispered voicings down and out some say you're trouble i can see what they mean run for your life boy well i say i am never seen my interests protected so well if i was ever scared of trouble it wont be now they say you're trouble i know damn well what they mean they wink their eyes until they can't see anything your crooked smile and my crooked mind

if i ever saw two crooks it was me and you