

Amie Comeaux, A Very Special Angel

Golden hair as bright as morning sunbeams
Eyes of blue that saw into your soul
A smile that could warm a winter's evening
Or touch a broken heart and make it whole

Her laugh was like the sound of angels singing
Her voice was a gift from God above
Amie saw a world that's filled with rainbows
And never met a soul she didn't love

God must need a very special angel
Whose heart's as pure as newly fallen snow
To come and join His choir of heavenly voices
And light the way that He would have us go
And so He called our very special angel
To spread her wings and take her final bow
Let our hearts be filled with joy instead of sorrow
To know that she is there beside Him now

A need for bringing happiness to others
Could fill her days wherever she might be
With songs, she touched the hearts of those who heard her

And now she's singing in our memories

The life she held so dear was only just beginning
Fame and fortune waited 'round the bend
The dreams she shared will never be forgotten
For the love she left with us will never end

God must need a very special angel
Whose heart's as pure as newly fallen snow
To come and join His choir of heavenly voices
And light the way that He would have us go
And so He called our very special angel
To spread her wings and take her final bow
Let our hearts be filled with joy instead of sorrow
To know that she is there beside Him now

Let our hearts be filled with joy instead of sorrow
To know that she is there beside Him now
