

Amy Correia, Angels Collide

Amy Correia
Miscellaneous
Angels Collide

Do you remember when you were a kid
And life was a lullaby
And the world that you dreamt in was king
Old oyster bed
And the whole sky was singing
And every song was good
Oh, where are you now
Angels collide in the neighborhood
Do you remember the ocean you left
Where every wave was a kiss
And the sand was a carpet you rode on A stones throw away was your wish chorus
Gone just like a photo you lost
Love turns its eyes away
Was it you crying in a company car
I saw on the freeway today
chorus