

Amy Diamond, Don't Cry Your Heart Out

(Duh duh duh, duh duh duh)
(Duh duh duh, duh duh duh)
(Duh duh duh, duh duh duh)

When she talks to you
You never care to listen
When she walks with you
Your eyes are always drifting
When you don't call her back
Though you promised her that
What's that got to say about you?

When she calls for help
You rather call her helpless
She is there for you
Why are you so selfish?
When you lie to her face
With a smile on your face
What's that got to say about you?

So don't cry your heart out
When she's nothing but a memory
Your heart out
Cause your tears ain't worth a penny
Oh, my brother, brother
You will soon discover
What it's like to have the blues
And no one cries for you

(Duh duh duh, duh duh duh)
(Duh duh duh, duh duh duh)
(Duh duh duh)

So tell me who are you
To shame and mistreat her
Cause she's not a man
But you are not one either
And you need to be checked
If you think for a sec
That karma won't come back to haunt you

When she's had enough
Begging will be useless
When she's all fed up
It's too late for excuses
When she leaves you behind
At the drop of a dime
Pretty words won't even matter, oh no

So don't cry your heart out
When she's nothing but a memory
Your heart out
Cause your tears ain't worth a penny
Oh, my brother, brother
You will soon discover
What it's like to have the blues
And no one cries for you

And no one cries for you
No one cries for you
No not for you

Then you'll see, then you'll know
That you reap what you sow

So don't weep, no don't go
Crying your heart out

You don't know what you got
Til it's gone and you stop
And you think, but do not
Cry your heart out

(Duh duh duh, duh duh duh)
(Duh duh duh, duh duh duh)
(Duh duh duh, duh duh duh)

So don't cry your heart out
Don't you cry your heart out
No no no
Oh, my brother, brother
You will soon discover
What it's like to have the blues
And no one cries for you
