

Amy Grant, I Don't Know Why

This is one of those moments
When all that really matters
Is crystal clear

We are woven together
By whatever threads of life that have Brought us here

We are stripped of all our layers
We are getting to the core
Tell me something real
And nothing more

Cuz I don't know why
I don't know how
I don't know where
Baby all I know is love

So I'm here between the bookends
Of everything that was and What will be

There's a wealth of every nation
Not so many answers
It seems to me

So I face the unfamiliar
And nothing's clear
Only blinding faith can carry me can carry me from here

And I don't know why
I don't know how
I don't know where
Baby all I know is love

Hold my hand and hold this moment
Time sure feels precious don't it
Life is always changing
This I know

I don't know why
I don't know how
I don't know where
Baby all I know is now
Baby all I know is now
