

Amy Grant, What kind of love

Pour me some coffee
I've got an hour before I go
Tell me a secret
Tell me something I don't know
Oh, in this life I need you more than you can know
To hold my hand
To be my friend
To hear you tell me once again
What kind of love is a love that won't break down
What kind of love honestly knows no bounds
Hopes all things
Believes all things
Never never let me go
What kind of love
I've got a new place
You've got a baby on the way
Time keeps on moving
Seems like nothing stays the same
Oh, in this life it can be hard to keep the faith
Some truth you own
Some you let go
But in the end you've got to know
What kind of love is a love that won't break down
What kind of love honestly knows no bounds
Hopes all things
Believes all things
Never never let me go
And what kind of love will still be here
When everything else has disappeared
And what kind of love is strong enough
To stand the test of time
What kind of love is a love that won't break down
What kind of love honestly knows no bounds
Hopes all things
Believes all things
Never never let me go
What kind of love
What kind of love
