Amy Macdonald, Road to Home

Oh the leaves are falling from the trees And the snow is coming, dont you know? But III still remember which way to go Im on the road, the road to home Oh the sound is fading in my ears And I cant believe Ive lasted all these years But III still remember which way to go Im on the road, the road to home Oh the light is fading all the time And this life Im in it seems to pass me by But III still remember which way to go Im on the road, the road to home Now I must say good bye Keep telling myself now dont you cry But Im here where I belong Ill see you soon, it wont be long Ill see you soon, it wont be long Ill see you soon, it wont be long