

Amy Winehouse, October Song

Today my bird flew away gone to find her big blue jay Starlight before she took flight
I sung a lullaby of bird land everynight sung for my Ava everynight

Ava was the morning, now she's gone
she's reborn like Sarah Vaughan
In the sanctuary she has found birds surround her sweet soun
and Ava flies in paradise

With dread I woke in my bed to shooting pains up in my head Lovebird, my beautiful bird Spoken 'til one day she couldn't be heard she just stopped singing

Ava was the morning, now she's gone
she's reborn like Sarah Vaughan
In the sanctuary she has found
birds surround her sweet soun
and Ava flies in paradise