

Anam Cara, Written on a Cavern Wall cut the bonds between us let them tie the noose lynch every heartless word you ever said i'm frustrated looking for the best when all that lays in front of me has been the worst never been one to point a finger i'll turn my back and walk away i can't believe that after all this time nothing held true to you but i know where i stand here with my heart in my hand this is where i belong once a roar now a whisper

i'll turn my back and walk away
this is home
this is what my heart yearns for
this is home
this is where my heart is