Anathema, Eternity Part III

So little time Your crystal eyes gaze into mine A burning flame Forever dreaming, dreaming a lie Trapped inside internal eyes Caressed by innocence, a sanctuary for your mind Born alone beneath pale sardonic skies One love, one life, one sorrow I won't reproach myself this time A condemned man, granted a sweet reprieve A turn of fate, a genial twist of the knife Undying affection for life