

Anathema, Temporary Peace

Deep inside the silence staring out upon the sea the waves are washing over half forgotten memory

Deep within the moment laughter floats upon the breeze rising and falling dying down within me and I swear I never knew how it could be and all this time all I had inside was what i couldn't see
I swear I never knew how it could be all the waves are washing over all that hurts inside of me

Beyond this beautiful horizon lies a dream for you and i this tranquil scene is still unbroken by the rumors in the sky
but there's a storm
closing in voices crying on the wind
the serenade is growing colder breaks my soul that tries to sing and there's so many many thoughts when I try to go to sleep but with you I start to feel a sort of temporary peace there's a drift in and out