

Anberlin, When Time And Confusion Collide

we've got these big plans we've got new york in sight we'll take this city by nightfall... the bright lights are calling everything is going our way everything's just as we've planned and this is the future (from what we've heard) and i still have your hands and it feels like we could live forever but i'm not doing this alone

[Chorus]

when memories fade
we've got each other
when time and confusion collide i hold it all when i hold you when friends walk other ways
we've got each other
we fell on hard times this isn't the way of our ideal miles from home doing the best we can i can't do this without you no nothing without you so take heart... because you know that you have mine
and it feels like we could live forever and i'm not going to do this alone

[Chorus]

[Bridge:]

it's not about the money we'll make it's about the passions that we ache for tell me what makes your heart beat faster tell me now what does your body long after i don't care now where we live it's not about where, or what, or who we were with it's about what makes us come alive so promise me again promise me again...
when memories fade
