

And One, Love You To The End

she was the light of my youth my only real life
ruined by different views
like a holy knife

twenty orbits later
then i met her at dawn again nothing left in common we hardly tried to set us free

she said
all you've been to me
people would be happy to be
into the water
into the sea

i love you to the end
tell me tell me
who's the man on your side who's your light now

i love you to the end
tell me tell me
who's the man
tell me who's the man

since the old club
fell into the past
it's shiny bright
still fades too fast

she said
all you've been to me
people would be happy to be
into the water
into the sea