

And One, My Story

So you should have seen me years ago
Time was never on my side you know
The stars shine even brighter
Just before they die
And scars could tell a story
All the sense to light

I open doors I open minds
Telling stories telling lies
This is my story
Fearing the feelings of you

I feel no regrets for gone by days
'cause they're like a summer bird
That leaves or stays
So how you will understand I had to lie
Some stars shine even brighter
Just before they die

I open doors I open minds
Telling stories telling lies
This is my story
Fearing the feelings of you