And One, Stand The Pain

what you did to me i don't give up i don't regret to be the one who kills you tenderly you found a part of a key i locked the door i dont prefer to be a kind of poetry i've got the power to see a story dies before i start to flee the only pain comes over me touched by the hands of lie i dont believe and even if you die it is a lie you will lie you will lie dont tell me i cant stand the pain you kissed that creatures in the rain dont tell me i cant stand the pain dont tell me now there's nothing to know once again time for you to go