

And Then I Turned Seven, Distant And Faded

And all these distant faded memories of everything I used to be are bringing me down
yeah they're bringing me down

And the leading cause of death I plead is from my insecurity
and it's bringing me down yeah it's bringing me down.

Down...
Down...

Yeah, hope is all I really need to wash my selfishness and greed but there's no hope to be found no I've looked all around

And if this life that I've led only leads to tears in bed then I won't hang around no I won't hang around

Down...
Down...
Down...
Down...

And now I've come to conclusions that I'm empty well I thought I still had everything in me

And all these distant faded memories
of everything I used to be
are bringing me down
yeah they're bringing me down

And the leading cause of death I plead
is from my insecurity
and it's bringing me down

Down...

(spoken)
You left us on a Sunday when I first found out I was shocked I just couldn't believe you were actually gone gone, forever
I know now that life isn't perfect going on without you has been the hardest thing I've ever had to do but I know in time, we will see each other some day where we can be together again, forever
