

Anders Johansson, It's Not Just Me

Tell me you've had trouble sleeping
That you toss and turn from side to side
That it's my face you've been seeing
In your dreams at night

Tell me that you wake up crying
And you're not sure exactly why
Tell me that something is missing
In your life, in your life baby

Tell me that you live for love
That forever is never enough
That you've waited all your life to see
That you want so badly to believe
Tell me that it's not just me

I could have sworn I saw you smile at me
Standing in the pouring rain
At a loss for words an running out of time
I said this crazy thing (crazy thing),

Hold me now and tell me that you do believe
In a soul, a soul mate
And tell me, and tell me, tell me
