

Anders Johansson, Save You

You sing that you're in love, but tell me what you're hiding
You sing everything is fine, but I can see you're lying
Isn't he there for you to pick you up when you're down
To love and praise you
You sing life's complicated, genetics and what's right
You sing life's devastated, it never seems you fine
Cause all you ever needed was someone who'd stand by your side
So I wanna save you, I will rescue you

(Chorus)
Cause when the clouds are over
Rain is pouring and everything will start
I'll be your crying shoulder
When it's over, I lift you up
And when there's no one else would take your part
And shelter you from hart
I will save you, I will rescue you
I will save you

You sing that love is something, it never takes a side
You sing you'll be left alone, if you don't stay by his side
I will be there for you, when no one else will be around
I will save you, I will rescue you

(Chorus)
Cause when the clouds are over
Rain is pouring and everything will start
I'll be your crying shoulder
When it's over, I lift you up
And when there's no one else would take your part
And shelter you from hart
I will save you, I will rescue you

When you feel your world is sinking
Everything will exhaust
I was meant to the bottom of the sea
To pick you up
When you seem to have lost your faith
I'll be your sun, your guiding star
And you know
Girl you should know

(Chorus)
Cause when the clouds are over
Rain is pouring and everything will start
I'll be your crying shoulder
When it's over, I lift you up
Cause when there's no one else would take your part
And shelter you from hart
I will save you, I will rescue you

Cause when the clouds are over
Rain is pouring and everything will start
I'll be your crying shoulder
When it's over, I lift you up
And when there's no one else would take your part
To shelter you from hart
I will save you, I will rescue you
I will save you
Save you