

Anders Johansson, Without You

Only you know what it means the language that you speak
Only you can read your mind the thoughts you hide and seek
It's so hard to breathe, It's so hard to move
I can even sleep in this lonely room

Is this what i have to go through
To be able to live my life without you
Is this what i have to feel like
To be able to live without you by my side

Only you know what it's like
The way you live your life
Only you know how it feels
To live within your dreams

And if i could run i still couldn't hide
The torture remains til the end of time

Is this what i have to go through
To be able to live my life without you
Is this what i have to feel like
To be able to live without you by my side

To be able to live my life without you
To be able to live without you by my side

Its hurting so bad
Its hard to define
I want you pass yet stay on my mind
Illusions i hade is far from the truth
I never survive getting over you

Is this what i have to go through to live life
Without you
I feel unable to go in life
Without you