Andreas Johnson, My Love (Song To A Butterfly)

The way you crash into my space the way you dance into the light a butterfly beyond my reach your beauty wears me out tonight it tears me up inside my love if you were my love if I was your star if you were my love I would never let you down the way you drown in his arms into the way you keep him satisfied a fatal kiss a lethal scent your colours fade to black and white I lose myself so fundamentally my love if you were my love if I was your star if you were my love I would never let you down feel my love seek my love tonight the way you fall before his feet the way you dance into his light a butterfly my love if you were my love if I was your star if you were my love I would never let you down love if you were my love if I was you star if you were my love I would never let you down never let you down never let you down
