

Andrew Bird, Wishing For Contentment

Wishing for contentment, hoping for relentment venting my resentment on the happy few

Awaiting resolution, and dreams of retribution finding restitution's just another thing to do

You've got to keep yourself busy, visit Aunt Lizzy just see how she's been But when you're making a late run two judgemental matrons retort, see what I mean?

A seeming reprobation, perhaps it's my vocation a nauseous elation comes to mind but it fades so soon
