

Andreya Triana, Darker than Blue

Those eyes are darker than blue
I saw that looking at you
It's not you, you wear up on your sleeve
The people stare as you walk down the street
The you, you wear up on your sleeve
Shows the world who you are
All except me
Those eyes are darker than blue
I saw that by candlelight
From a brighter room
And the smile you wear on the outside deceives
The people stare as you walk down the street
The smile you wear on the outside deceives
To show the world who you are
All except me
And they grow darker still
'Til the hourglasses fill
They grow darker still
And show the world who you are
All except me
Those eyes are darker than blue
I saw that looking at you
Those eyes are darker than blue
I saw that looking at you
