

Andy Davis, Laugh So You Don't Cry

We'll rent a comedy
Rewind the best parts
And we'll memorize the lines

I'll call everyone and they can come over
If it keeps things off your mind
Yeah I've got a couple of ideas
Tell me if up for this

Well I'll try my best to be funny, yeah
You forget for a while
Wrote a song for ya honey
You should laugh so you don't cry
Laugh so you don't cry

You used to love when I came up with surprises
And would drag you off some place
Just get you in a car and out of this house
Cause I miss the smile on your face
And I'm here to keep that chin up
It looks like you need cheering up

Well I'll try my best to be funny, yeah
You forget for a while
Wrote a song for ya honey
You should laugh so you don't cry
Laugh so you don't cry
So you don't cry

We're not kissing goodbye
What happened?
The only tears you should cry, cry laughing
I think it's about time that you get yourself out of hiding
Out of hiding

And I'll try my best to be funny, yeah
You forget for a while
Wrote a song for ya honey
You should laugh so you don't cry
Laugh so you don't cry

This is it
This is your song baby
Look outside, the sun is shining
Are you there? Can I come in baby?
Crack a smile
You don't have to hide it, well

I'll try my best to be funny, yeah
You forget for a while
Wrote a song for ya honey
You should laugh so you don't cry
You should laugh so you don't cry
Laugh so you don't cry
So you don't cry
So you don't cry
