

Andy Griggs, Tonight I Wanna Be Your Man

Baby light a couple candles, lock the bedroom door Put on some sweet soul music, throw a blanket on the floor Surrender to my patient hands, all week i've been your husband, tonight I wanna be your man.

It hit me just this morning, when I passed you in the hall I swear I caught you lookin, like you dont know me at all let me show you who I am,
all week ive been your husband, tonight I wanna be your man and i'll always be, your cover when your cold and when the world winds up against you, im the safe place you can go but now and then, we need to find some time to be in love, just be in love now the whole worlds in bed sleepin, I think were finally alone and if the telephone starts ringin, we'll pretend like were not home cause any fool would understand, that all week ive been your husband, tonight I wanna be your man mhhmh, mmhmmhm

So let me show you who I am,
all week ive been your husband, tonight I wanna be your man just forget about that old wedding band, all week ive been your husband, tonight I wanna be your man mmmhmm