

Andy McCoy, You Gotta Let It Go

Get your rocks off now baby don't you dare to stop Yeah you've yearning to start searching learning to let go from what holds you back
Just learn to let it go
Love can make it grow
You gotta let it go
You gotta let it go
Go let it flow
Gotta make it grow
You gotta let it go go
Go with the flow
You're old enough to know
Make up your mind girl
Out there it's a wild world
Open the door hit the dance floor
The stuff that gets you off out there there's plenty more Just gotta let it go
Learn to make it flow
Just go with the flow
Gotta let it go
Learn to make it flow
You're old enough to know
You want the front row
Well then go with the flow
Every nights a last show
Now if I had a bit of money
And used a little bit of sense
I might come up with something
That'll last till the end
Lord I've tried so hard to make ends meet
But always end up with nothing
Where will this misery lead
But til then I've learned to let it go
Real love can make it grow
Just go with the flow
well then go with the flow
Every shows the last show
Just dare to let it go
Take a change it'll flow
You'll discover when you go
Well once upon a time
I thought everything would be alright
Then at the blink of an eye
Disaster struck at speed of light
Lord I fell down to my knees
God help me please
Can't squeeze blood out of a rock
Sometimes the bad times gotta stop
No can't squeeze blood out of a rock
Life's such a short dance
Like a one night romance
Grow with your mistakes
Skip the blow the fakes and flakes
Cut yourself frec from the chains of pain
Learn to let it go
Take a chance and it'll flow
You've gotta let it go

Go with the flow
Gotta let it go go go go go
