

Angel Morbid, At One With Nothing

Angel Morbid
Miscellaneous

At One With Nothing
omniscient are the eyes that see beyond what we choose to see transcending of beliefs, that limit man's being the dogma that feeds the listless has thrived uncounted years impeding on ones perception of what is to be awaken to see a god of a desertion a god of lies enlightened by a way, deceiving only truth to the blind the salvation that you seek is empty no god of light the venom that has fed your faith you except with ease but the sights that lay before you destroy your beliefs awaken to be

now all will be seen the seeds of the weak destroy the lies told of forgiving, exposed the ignorant, thrown to the wake your calling names of gods, they are only shrines the waves of the truth, enslave slaying the blind awaken to a light of knowing all your truth was lies and the faith which you embraced has left you blind deceived like the fools that surround you it came with ease unfulfilled were the days of your being but now you will see
