

Angelina, Over And Over

We've known each other for so long
You're a friend I don't want to compromise
But you reassure my insecurities
Through all my nervousness inside

You softly squeeze my hand and
Say everything's okay
And that there's no reason to be scared

Over and over you tell me how much you care for me
And over and over you hold me like lovers do
Now over and over I wonder when the morning comes
Will you still be here?

As I lay beside you
With a quivered look on my face
Was this real or was I fooling myself?
Did I make a mistake?

As you gently sleep
All I can do is stare

When the sun breaks through, what will you do?

Over and over you tell me how much you care for me
And over and over you hold me like lovers do
Now over and over I wonder when the morning comes
Will you still be here?

When you wake, will you still feel the same?
Please don't make me feel like this was all in vain
'cause I've given you my precious love
I gave you all I had

Over and over you tell me how much you care for me
And over and over you hold me like lovers do
Now over and over I wonder when the morning comes
Will you still be here?

Will you still be here? [Repeat Until Fade]