

Angelo Kelly, Finally One

The sun is rising up the clouds are almost gone
No one's gonna stop what we have begun
Our family and friends gathered in the church
You're already dressed now the music starts
I see you coming down down the aisle
Our little ones in front of you with a big smile
Beautiful is not enough a word to describe
How you look today oh God has blessed the first of May
It has taken way to long
For this day to come
But now it's said and done
We finally became one
It has taken way to long
For this day to come
But now it's said and done
We finally became one
You are my root you are my ground
You wouldn't ever, ever let me down
We gave are vows we gave them for life
Now I'm your husband and you are my wife
With you I wanna laugh with you I wanna cry
With you I wanna grow old with you I wanna die
With you I wanna lie naked in bed all night
You're as pure as one can be with you I feel complete
It has taken way to long
For this day to come
But now it's said and done
We finally became one
It has taken way to long
For this day to come
But now it's said and done
We finally became one
It has taken way to long
For this day to come
But now it's said and done
We finally became one
We finally became one
We finally became one