

Angie Aparo, Boats

Well, the ocean is a monster
And the waves are a killer, yeah
Swallowed my baby whole
Now her tombstone is a coral reef
Under shifting sand my love is buried deep
But never as deep as the beauty in her soul
God damn thing swallowed my baby whole
I used to smoke, mother nature
Now tell me who is burning who, yeah
It's here my love was lost
In sunlit wonder she was tossed
All for black sea teeth to chew
I used to smoke, mother nature
Now tell me who is burning who, yeah, oh
I'm gonna build a boat
A wooden tomb to float
Just long enough, I'm gonna sink it
Where my baby lies