

Angie Aparo, Sweet Loretta

She only dreams in black and white
She just can't seem to turn the colors on
Even if everything's all right
She pretends like she doesn't know
And I pretend like it doesn't show
Come on, come on, sweet, sweet Loretta
Come on, come on, times could not be better, you know
Sweet Loretta's tired of me, I don't know why
Sweet Loretta complains about the weight of the sky
No, no, oh, no
All the love you never knew
Standing right in front of you
Sweet Loretta, I wanna know you better
If we could start it all over again
You could smile like we were something new
You could rely on a love that comes to you

Come on, come on, sweet, sweet Loretta
Come on, come on, times could not be better, you know
Sweet Loretta's tired of me, I don't know why
Sweet Loretta complains about the weight of the sky
No, no, oh, no
All the love you never knew
Standing right in front of you
Sweet Loretta, I wanna know you better
All the love you never knew
Standing right in front of you
Sweet Loretta, yeah
Come on, come on, sweet, sweet Loretta
Come on, come on, sweet, sweet Loretta