

Angie Aparo, Whatever We Become

Why am I so pitiful?
It's hard to erase what never was
I know compared to most
Our fortune is made of blessing and love
Whatever we become, whether together or undone
You are life and I am overloaded
I am free it seems
So I sing this song for you, for you
You were born on Natures time
Now we are born to pay the rent
And though I've a thousand dreams for you
I maybe don't have enough love to make a dent
Whatever we become, whether together or undone
You are life and I am overloaded
I am free they will say
So I sing this song for you, yeah, sing a song
Whatever we become, whether together or undone
You are life and I am overloaded
I am free they will say
So I sing this song for you, for you, for you