

Anika Paris, Give Me The Strength

I'm driving to your house
My thoughts are turned up way too loud
There's so much I wanna say
But I'm not feeling very proud
I wish this night were far behind me
I'm so scared to be alone
And I'm too tired to keep forgiving
Still it's hard to let you go, to let you go
God give me the strength to leave you
Give me the strength to say goodbye
God give me the strength to leave you
Give Me the chance to save my pride
Cause sometimes love just ain't enough, no no no
So I'm standing here outside
My heart is hanging by a thread
Don't know what to do with how I feel
Oh I'm knocking on your door
Wish I could run away instead
Run run so far away
You greet me with the same old story
And ask me if there's something wrong
You promise me oh baby this time it will be different
But I can't stay for very long, for very long
Oh God give me the strength to leave you
Give me the strength to say goodbye
God give me the strength to leave you
Give Me the chance to save my pride
Cause sometimes love just ain't enough, no no no
I wish this night were so far behind me
I'm so scared to be alone
And I'm too tired you know to keep forgiving
Still it's hard to let you go, to let you go
God give me the strength to leave you
Give me the strength to say goodbye
God give me the strength to leave you
Give Me the chance to save my pride
Cause sometimes love just ain't enough, no no no
