

Anita Baker, Your're The Best Yet

You're the best thing yet to ever come into my life
An understanding hand when the world calls me grand
You protected my heart right from the start
Sensitive vibes are strong and true
The very best I've always shared with you
And if I should fall or if I'm standing tall
I can see you standing there always willing to share
Each and every part of me
And you see things I never, never see
And you're the best thing yet to ever come into my life
And you're the best thing yet to ever come into my life
Deep down in my mind, my mind
I wonder at the blessing that I could find
Someone as loving as you
Could bring into my life this feeling so right and so true
Like the flowing waters of a silver stream
And like the misty vision in a midnight dream
Such a wonder of life to me
So rare is found such a reason to be
You're the best thing yet to ever come into my life
You're the best thing yet to ever come into my life
Like the flowing waters of a silver stream
And like the misty vision in a midnight dream
Such a wonder of life to me
So rare is found such a reason to be
You're the best thing yet to ever come into my life
You're the best thing yet to ever come into my life
You're so wonderful, you're so beautiful
You're the best thing yet to ever come into my life
You're so wonderful and you're so beautiful
You're the best thing yet to ever come into my life
