

Anita Lipnicka & John Porter, Heaven knows why

When youre down, my baby
Im falling down with you
Maybe it looks like I dont care
But thats not true
And when your heart is bleeding
I know its my fault
And I take all the blames on me
Though it doesnt show
There is a killer in me
Hidden beneath my smile
She makes my wanna hurt you, baby
She makes me tell you lies
Heaven knows why
I dont know why
Were not so long together
But we traveled so far
I know I havent been there for you
More than once or twice
And when I see youre crying
Its not that I dont care
I always wait with saying sorry
Till it gets too late
There is a child in me
Hidden behind my eyes
Hiding in his loneliness
No matter how hard I try
Heaven knows why
I dont know why
When youre down, my baby
Im falling down with you
You say it looks like I dont care
But thats not true
Maybe my love isnt golden
But surely is real
And I could die today, right now
For what I feel
Theres always you in me
Hidden deep in my heart
You make me wanna sing for you
For you I wrote these lines
Heaven knows why
I dont know why
Heaven knows why
I dont know why