

Ann Beretta, New Revolution

Maybe one day I'm gonna get it right
Maybe sometime I'll feel just fine
They say these days are numbered so I can't let go
They say these days are numbered so I can't let go
And maybe one day I won't wake up late
And find I've missed another new day
They say these are the days so don't let go
They say these are the days so don't let go
Everybody needs a sound solution
With our eyes closed
We're looking for a new revolution
Burnt at both ends you can call me wasted
When it's so close I know I could taste it
They say these are the days to lose control
They say these are the days to lose control
So we dance with the devil in the pale moonlight
It might be a crime but it feels so right
They say these days are numbered so don't let go
Everybody needs a sound solution
With our eyes closed
We're looking for a new revolution
Maybe one day I'm gonna get it right
Maybe sometime I'll feel just fine
And maybe one day I won't wake up late
And find I've missed another new day
Burnt at both ends you can call me wasted
When it's so close I know I could taste it
They say these are the days to lose control
So we dance with the devil in the pale moonlight
It might be a crime but it feels so right
So we dance with the devil in the pale moonlight
It might be a crime but it feels so right
They say these days are mine and I'm alright
Everybody needs a sound solution
With our eyes closed
We're looking for a new revolution
Everybody needs a sound solution
With our eyes closed
We're looking for a new revolution.
