Ann Nesby, Let The Rain Fall

When my soul was lost There was no one around But you were there for me When the rain came down Into every sunny day A little rain must fall And without the rain upon us Would we ever grow Like so many others I was too afraid of change 'Til I put my trust in you You took away my pain I allowed my fears To take hold of me Had nowhere to run 'cause I was too deep Let the rain fall down on me Waited for a better day That seems so far away Even though my faith was shaky, You showed me the way I was searching for a way that I could make it through Figured out what I did wrong I didn't trust in you I allowed my fears To take hold of me Had nowhere to run 'cause I was too deep Let the rain fall down on me Doesn't really matter how hard The rain is gonna fall 'Cause through any weather, There's someone I can call Storm clouds may rise Strong winds may blow You said you'd never Leave me anywhere I go I allowed my fears To take hold of me Had nowhere to run 'cause I was too deep Let the rain fall down on me Let the rain fall down on me Let the rain fall down on me Let the rain fall down on me
